Gene Simmons

Leaping on stage in a frenzy of malevolent zeal, vampire Gene Simmons adds his own brand of fire to every KISS appearance. His imagination, fed for years with monstrous inspiration from the greats of the Lon Chaney era, takes over on stage. He actually becomes the personification of that imagination. And so does his music. Like Gene, it seems to drip blood and breathe fire. This ability to give music a living presence is mystical, and unique to the KISS experience. Gene says he feels himself undergoing a complete physical and emotional transformation as he works into his stage clothes and face paint. Whatever the process, the result is magnetic, invincible, and enchanting evil.

Paul Stanley

n stage. LOVE!
and guys . . . because ends waves of
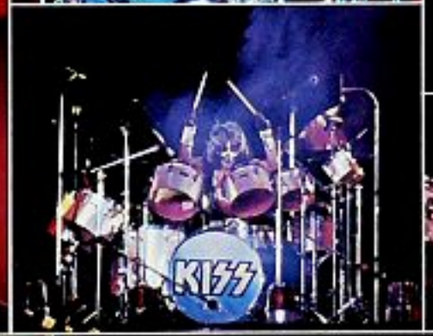
d, mixed with music, loving words, and an attraction that is central to his universe. His fantasy becomes ours. There are no limits. His love is for all. From all. To all. Paul transforms his passion into music–his music into passion!

Peter Criss

Peter Criss—the big cat! Watchful. Endowed with extraordinary power that lies quiet beneath his graceful prowling body. All instincts alert, he attacks his drums with awesome fury. With the calculating control of a fierce jungle predator, Peter sends shock waves that bite to the bone. The animal vitality is tightly woven into the fabric of the KISS experience. Like every cat, Peter is beauty in motion and is incredibly soft to the touch. It is said that he often purrs in his sleep.



"Space" Ace Frehley

Ace is descended from a race of spacemen stranded on Earth long ago. That accounts for the cosmic energy that pours from his guitar. Like an eerie haunting from outer space . . . immune to all earth forces . . . Ace's throbbing, pulsating sound hypnotizes the mind and ignites the senses.

Exposure to it gives a heady, weightless feeling accompanied by an urge to leap beyond human capabilities. Ace is constantly at odds with the laws of gravity. To make sure he remains on earth, he actually has had heavy magnets built into his shoes.
